Our business philosophy is to work with our customers to maintain trouble-free, continuous output.

The key to success has been Spencer's ability to operate a focused customer approach. Using our experience and technology, customer requirements are satisfied by providing the most effective coating system at the lowest possible applied cost. Included in our supply arrangements is product, system and application specifications, technical service at our customers premises, ongoing product engineering to improve all aspects of the coating process and a first class product supply and delivery service.

Spencer Coatings supply a comprehensive range of coating technologies. One component and two component single coat and multi-coat systems, stoving systems and a range of high solids and water based systems providing exceptional quality with full compliancy to E.P.A. regulations.

Spencer Coatings know how important production is to our customers. We understand the consequences of a production process brought to a standstill because of coating problems. Our business philosophy is to work with our customers to maintain trouble-free, continuous output from their production operations.

Operating throughout the UK with our major facilities in Scotland, Ireland and England, we are able to provide product and full support to our customers when they want it.
